

To prepare yourself for your field of work you must have a sound academic background. As a senior heading for work, college, or marriage, you have a firm foundation for your goals by a variety of courses for your choice of occupation. The important thing is that there has been something of interest offered to everyone and through experimentation in high school, you can find the area in which you have talent. You may further your interest in your field by participation in activities connected with the subject. If you find your talent in music you may join the band, orchestra or a Cappella and within these organizations be offered a variety of opportunities. If you are a gifted writer you may join the publications staff and further your interest. If you excel in speech you may debate competitively. Leon Spies, a member of the varsity debate team said, "The long hours spent in compiling evidence, the lessons of defeat, and that sadistic joy in finding a hole in the opponent's case have all contributed a great deal toward my enjoyment of high school."

Dianne Lundvall, president of Thespians, the honorary dramatic society, said, "I learned the magic of the theatre through the opportunity of being in plays. I will always remember the despairing rehearsals, new friends, and the final reward of an audience's applause." Band member Greg Wilson said, "Music has taught me not to be satisfied with mediocrity, but to strive toward perfection in what I attempt."

HOFF, KRISTIN: Intramurals; GRA; Pep Club; Quill & Scroll; Spanish Club; Thespians; a Cappella; Div. I State Contest; Madrigal; Semester Honor Roll; Publications; Shaheen, Assistant Editor

HOGUE, SALLY: Varsity Cheerleader; Intramurals; Aquesta; French Club; GRA; Pep Club; Student Council; Tri-Y; Semester Honor Roll; Junior Class Secretary

HOLLINGSWORTH, KIMBERLY: Golf; GRA; Pep Club; Spanish Club; Tri-Y

HOLT, LEIGH: Tennis; GRA; Spanish Club; a Cappella; East High School, Duluth, Minnesota; Girls' Club; National Honor Society

HOOVER, GREGORY: Basketball; Football; Intramurals; Track; Lettermen's Club, Secretary-treasurer; Student Council; Semester Honor Roll; Junior Class Vice-President; Senior Class Vice-President

HOOVER, LORRAINE: GRA; Tri-Y

